

ADMINISTRATIVE SECRETARY

DISTINGUISHING FEATURES OF THE CLASS: The work of employees in this class is distinguished by the fact that responsibility is involved for independently performing complex clerical operations and for relieving superiors of administrative details by arranging their conferences for them and relieving them of contacts which should properly be made with subordinate officials. This work calls for the frequent exercise of independent judgement in giving out information regarding departmental policies and practices, and in planning the routine of an office. The correspondence duties of these employees are distinguished by the fact that most letters and releases of a routine recurring nature are composed personally except when new problems arise. Employees in this class work under general supervision, receiving detailed instructions only upon work where policies have not been determined. Only unusually important or complicated assignments are checked in detail upon completion. Employees in this class may exercise immediate supervision over the work of clerical assistants. Employees in this class have more public contact assignments involving agency wide policies than is characteristic of positions allocated to the class of Keyboard Specialist II. An Administrative Secretary does related work as required.
